

The Order of the Ancient Commoner Nomination for Induction

The Order of the Ancient Commoner recognizes an alumna/us or friend of the College who has given significant support to the College or to the Alumni Association above and beyond his or her position or affiliation.

The original Ancient Commoner, in the world of King's lore, was an undergraduate student who, by choice, never graduated, and instead retreated to the cupola overlooking the quad. This student grew old and became the venerable guardian of all things King's (lore, traditions, etc) and is also highly critical of King's activities. Since the Ancient Commoner only looks favourably on those he considers to have made a significant contribution without regard for personal gain, the name of the award is apt.

To avoid disappointment if the nominee is not selected, nominators and the Alumni Association Awards Committee shall keep all nominations confidential to respect privacy. We ask all involved to respect this policy.
